

Do You Know How Your Employees Are Sharing Your Companies Sensitive and Critical Information?

Data breaches are happening every day. Even with protective Firewalls, Intrusion Detection and Protective systems, and other hardware and software, data breaches still occur. Researchers have stated that between 85%-97% of data breaches occur because an employee clicks on a phishing email or shares data through an unsecure file sharing system. Do you know how your employees are sharing your company's information?

Your company's information is shared continuously all day, every day. Are you confident that critical and/or sensitive information is not being disclosed publicly through email attachments, unsecured file sharing solutions, or other unsecure ways? You need and enforce a security policy that outlines how your employees share information internally and externally.

InVaultive can be your security solution for how your employees share, collaborate, and store your company's information.

The InVaultive Solution

InVaultive is an enterprise cloud-based file services solution. InVaultive offers file sharing, storage, collaboration and synchronization in Innovate's secure cloud environment. InVaultive encrypts data that is stored, uploaded and downloaded compliant with HIPAA, PCI, GDPR, and other regulations. Integrated in email applications such as Microsoft Outlook and Windows 365, InVaultive allows you to share files and documents in emails without sending attachments or using encrypted email software. Creating a public or password protected links to files, transferring files or setting up a collaboration space is fast and easy with InVaultive. Plus you can restrict the number of downloads, view only, restrict uploads and limit the amount of time the document can be accessed. InVaultive can be customized to have your company's look and feel. It is easy to install and use.

With multiple levels of security, InVaultive is designed to shield your company's confidential, critical and sensitive information from security breaches. InVaultive is user-friendly and is hosted on Innovate E-Commerce's private, secure server.

Setting up InVaultive

Often times when companies want to utilize the cloud, they set up their cloud environment similar to the way they did on their own servers. This may cause duplication of files, lack of file management or restricting access. Innovate can assist you in the easy transition to InVaultive and create your company's own customized, efficient and effective Enterprise File Sharing environment.
